The American Federation of Government Employees Local 3403 is proud to endorse Dr. Megan O'Rourke for Congress in New Jersey's Seventh District.

AFGE Local 3403 is a small but mighty Union representing employees across eight federal agencies, including USDA's National Institute of Food and Agriculture. As a union dedicated to protecting federal employees and advancing this nation's leadership in science and agriculture, we value leaders who share our commitment to scientific integrity and innovation.

Dr. O'Rourke has spent her career as a climate change expert, championing sustainable and cost-efficient agriculture for families, which plays a vital role in shaping a stronger future. Her campaign inspires our members and strengthens AFGE's mission to protect federal employees while honoring the foundations of science. We strongly endorse Dr. O'Rourke in this election. She will help restore integrity to our nation's scientific work, putting us back at the front of global scientific leadership.
