

THE VA'S PLAN TO BUST YOUR UNION

AFGE is fighting the constant roadblocks being raised throughout the contract negotiations process including the gag rule VA management tried to impose. At every turn the VA is trying to bust your union, take away your voice at work, and privatize the VA.

Refuse to speak to the union while we bargain: Secretary Wilkie has publicly said that he will not meet with AFGE despite ongoing requests for a meeting since September 2018.

Take away your collective bargaining rights: AFGE won't waive your right to bargain a contract. If the union gave in to this, it could no longer protect you on the job.

Use bad faith negotiating tactics to shove union-busting policies down AFGE's throat: A federal judge stopped the administration's illegal union-busting EOs. But VA is trying to use contract bargaining to put them in effect anyway.

Discriminate against Title 38 workers: VA management took away the right to provide worksite representation from nurses, doctors, and other medical staff. We're fighting this in court. We must stop it now, and make sure it doesn't spread.
